PREMIUM TAN & ENERGY FOR BODY & SOUL

Isaak Newton, the universal genius of the 17th century, laid the foundations for today's understanding of colour. Using a glass prism, he split sunlight into its spectral colours and conducted research aiming at the psychological components of colour. Newton proved that colour is energy. Depending on the colour, this energy affects people at different intensity and disposition and creates different sensations in their mind. The quote „Colour is not in the light, not in the eye, but a sensation in the mind“ supports Newton's findings.

Since then, numerous studies of the psychological effect of colour have verified Newton's findings and have even gone far beyond that. Actually a sensation can not only be perceived in one's mind, but also has an effect on the skin.

The Cosmedico COLYOUR range merges a total of eight colour-related benefits in four lamps. The human organism only absorbs from the colour energy what it needs at the time of exposure. Thereby it rebalances existing deficits and restores the harmony of body and soul. On top of that a unique premium tan is produced during the session.

All 4 coloured lamps in a solarium culminate in a vivid play of colours to provide an unmatched sunbath and colour therapy resulting in excellent tanning and 8 awesome benefits on body and soul.

This is the magic of colour!
